GENERAL INFORMATION

Based on the information you have provided, Palm Beach Community College (PBCC) will determine your residency status for TAX purposes. This status determines whether PBCC withholds taxes on any payments you may receive from the institution. Your tax status does not necessarily correspond with your INS classification.

You will either be a resident alien or a non resident alien for tax purposes. If you are determined to be resident alien for tax purposes, you are required to follow all tax laws applicable to an U.S. citizen. If you are determined to be a non resident alien for tax purposes, PBCC will withhold the required taxes from all scholarships, grants and earnings paid to you by PBCC. After the calendar year has passed, PBCC will mail a 1042-S to you to file with your U.S. federal income taxes. To determine how to file your taxes as a non resident alien, please refer to IRS Publication 519. IRS publications, forms, and instructions can be found at www.irs.gov.

As a resident or non resident alien you may be entitled to certain tax benefits under a treaty between your country of residence and the United States. Additional documentation must be submitted to PBCC if you are claiming eligibility for tax benefits from a tax treaty. For additional information on tax treaties and their benefits, please use IRS Publication 901.
