A GUIDE TO YOUR REINSTATEMENT INTO F-1 STATUS

A student will need to apply for reinstatement to F-1 status if he/she is “out-of-status” and intends to resume full-time studies (12 semester hours). A student may be out-of-status, for example, if:

1. He/she was enrolled less than full-time and did not have a waiver from the International Admissions Office.
2. He/she entered the U.S. on another school's I-20 but did not attend that school.
3. He/she was issued an I-515 upon entry but did not send the required documents to U.S Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS).
4. He/she did not apply for an extension of the program end date before the expiration of his/her I-20.
