

Fun Functions of Mathematics

Professor Mike Talebi

Some useful applications of the two trigonometric functions Sine and Cosine in Engineering, Science and Mathematics will be discussed. Although everyone is welcome to attend, the presentation is more suitable for those who have either taken or will be taking courses in Trigonometry and Calculus with Analytic Geometry and Differential Equations and those students who are interested in pursuing a degree in Engineering, Science and Mathematics.

Door prizes will be given and refreshments will be served.