

ProCalc Practice Questions: Question Type 3 (metric/household conversions - tsp, Tbsp, mL)

1. 2 tsp of cough medicine has been prescribed. A measuring device marked in mL is being used. How many mL should be administered?
  2. 3 tsp of cough medicine has been prescribed. A measuring device marked in mL is being used. How many mL should be administered?
  3. 2.5 mg of liquid Urecholine ( Bethanechol Chloride) has been prescribed. 2.5 mg is contained in 2.5 mL. A measuring device marked in tsp is being used. 2.5 mL is equivalent to how many tsp?
  4. 200 mg of liquid Isoniazid has been prescribed. 200 mg is contained in 20 mL. A measuring device marked in tsp is being used. 20 mL is equivalent to how many tsp?
  5. 50 mg of liquid Mellaril-S (Thioridazine) has been prescribed. 50 mg is contained in 10 mL. A measuring device marked in tsp is being used. 10 mL is equivalent to how many tsp?
-

ProCalc Practice Questions: Question Type 3 ANSWERS

1. 10
2. 15
3. 0.5
4. 4
5. 2